Dear

25X1

Under contract RD-35, we are engaged in production for delivery of several items including a Carrier Controlled Relay, a Dual Channel Magnetic Tape Recorder, a Time Signal Generator, a Dual Channel Playback Unit, and several models of antennas.

The contract requires that we execute patent disclosures on all these items. In connection with this requirement, we plan to release the instruction books and circuit diagrams for these units to a patent firm which we have employed to handle such work for us. This raises the question of the security classification of the several items being supplies. In our judgment, none of these items is classified. We previously requested permission to exploit the Carrier Controlled Relay for commercial purposes without specifying its original purpose. This you concurred in in your letter of 31 December 1952. We request that this same clearance be given for all the devices developed under subject contract.

Very truly yours,

25X1
